How the little red poppy became the memorial flower of the dead of the two world wars was described by Mrs. Eugene Sickles, chairman of the Poppy committee of the American Legion Auxiliary, as the Auxiliary continued its preparations for the annual observance of Poppy Day here Saturday, May 22 and Saturday, May 29. "The custom of wearing the poppy as a memorial flower seemed to spring up naturally both in the United States and England after the close of World War I," explained Mrs. Sickles. "Returning soldiers brought back memories of the little wild poppies growing along the edge of the trenches, beneath the tangled barbed wire, around the shell holes and over the fresh earth of the battle graves. They were the one touch of nature's beauty which survived in that area of destruction known as 'the western front,' and came to symbolize the heroism of those who died.

war dead. The first instance of wearing poppies in tribute to the dead took place in New York city on November 9, 1918, when Miss Moina Michael, of Athens, Ga., a YMCA staff worked distributed poppies at a conference of that organization. The poppy was first distributed publicly on the streets of Milwaukee in June, 1919, in connection with the home-coming of the Thirty-Second Division, and was first used to raise funds for aid of the disabled veterans in that same city the following

. . . "The American Legion adopted the poppy as its memorial flower at its National Convention in Cleveland in 1920, and by the American Legion Auxiliary at its first National Convention in Kansas City in 1921.

'At first, silk poppies made in France by French widows and orphans were distributed by the Legion and Auxiliary on Poppy Day. Making of poppies by disabled American veterans was begun in hospitals in Minnesota in 1922, and the veteranmade crepe paper flowers gradually displaced the silk poppies. This year more than 25,000,000 poppies have been made by thousands of disabled men and women working in hospitals and convalescent workshops in 40 states. "The crepe paper poppy was adopted as the official American Legion Auxiliary flower because its making provided more interesting and beneficial work for the veterans with minimum cost for materials.

"While the dead of World War II fell in many parts of the world, many of the fiercest battles of that war took place in France, Flanders and western Germany, where the poppy is a native wild flower. Again it bloomed between the crosses which marked the resting places of American dead and it became the memorial flower for World War II as well as World War I. No matter where they died, the poppy is the flower which says we remember and honor their great sacrifice for America.

"Thoughts of the dead naturally bring thoughts of the disabled veterans and the children deprived of a father's support by the war. So, in exchange for the poppies each year Americans contribute approximately $2,000,000 for rehabilitation and child welfare funds of The American Legion and Aux-

Fishermen are allowed one trout a day for the season which continues through July 24, excepting Sundays. Previously, the catch was two of the big fish. In addition, an angler's fishing is limited to any points followed by the juniors with five days during the two-month

This is only one expression of the devout spirit of the Psalmist. Music and poetry were not the only interests and accomplishments of David. He knew his people well for he had led them in battle and served them as king. While he was establishing a flourishing kingdom, he was also acting as an agent of God in developing Israel's worship, God himself gave David the plans for the great temple that Solomon built and David instructed his son Solomon to "be strong and of courage and to do it." This was the beginning of temple worship in Jerusalem that the ancestors of the Jews of the restoration period knew and revered. The Temple there was the center of the nation's life just as the churches

Development of Jewish Worship In the early history of Israel God directed Moses to make a tabernacle, a large movable tent that could be transported from place to place. It was rectangular in shape and contained a Holy of Holies separated from the main sanctuary. In the Holy of Holies was placed the Ark of the Covenant which held the stone tablets with the 10 Commandments, a pot of manna and a Book of the Law. The tabernacle meeting places with his people. In the passages from Ezra the people are busy laying the foundations of the second temple, generally called Zerubbabel's Temple to distinguish it from Solomon's and The Rev. G. E. Sheffer, pastor. The exterior was built of stone and the interior walls were lined with cedar carved and overlaid with gold and precious stones. The exiles on their return to Jerusalem after captivity were impoverished and unable to restore the Temple on such an elaborate scale. Only the foundation stones of Solomon's Temple remained. Harrisburg, May 21 (A)-Mum's the word among Pennsylvania's delegates to the GOP national convention on the subject of presidential preferences.

The 73 delegates just aren't saying who they would like to se nominated for president.

An Associated Press postcard poll of sentiment among the delegates brought only five responses, and only one of these indicated his mind was made up on the matter.

This was Jay Cooke, of Montgomery county. Cooke, who is backing Haroid E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, for president, said he believes Stassen is going to get the GOP nomination at Philadelphia. Cooke is manager for Stassen in the Keystone state.

Two other Republican delexates -Steele Clarke, of Cherry Tree, Indiana county, and Frederick D. Garman, of Philadelphia - said they have an open mind on the question. Neither would venture a guess as to whom the nominee will be. The other delegates responded

After a number of set backs due to the Samaritans and other unfriendly neighbors and with the encouragement of Haggai and Zachariah, the new temple was finished in 515 B.C. At its dedication the old men who had seen the former temple "wept with a loud

The main part was soon built but the adjacent buildings and some courts were not completed for years. It still occupied the original site on the Mount of Moriah but was twice the size of Zerubbabel's Temple. The Holy of Holies was empty for after Jerusalem was destroyed in 587 B.C. the Ark of the Covenant disappeared. This was the Temple in which Jesus taught and antagonized the chief priests and the scribes who tried to destroy Him.

To the ancient Jews the Temple was a symbol of God's special relation to Israel and of God's covenant with them. It was also a symbol of Israel's greatness because of its elaborate ritual, its traditional festivals which commemorated events in their national life. The Temple was the national shrine of the Jews and meant to them what Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral mean to the English. The second temple (Zerubbabel's) was a visible expression of God's love for Israel because God had permitted them to return home from exile and had not forsaken them. God spoke to them through Ezekiel, saying, "I will be as to them as a little sanctuary in the countries where they shall come." Ezekiel gave the people hope and courage before their return. The Temple restored by the returned exiles served as a great hope for the time when the promised Messiah would come and fulfill all represented God's dwelling and the purposes of God. Strict demands were made on priests and worshipwas the center of their religious pers. Years later when Jesus strode into the temple area of Herod's Canaan. Then it was moved from Temple he found that the priesthood one place to another until the Ark of had deteriorated and that the courts Jesus cleansed the Temple by casting out all who sold, overthrowing meeting places at first but gradually the tables of the money changers as synagogues were established In He said, "It is written, my house shall be a house of prayer, but ye an assembly house and was a place have made it a den of robbers." Here and there, as we wend our way through life, we lose a friend now and then; but it is not until later in life, when they seem to disappear more rapidly, that we begin to miss those who have gone before. I was talking today to a noted surgeon, now retired, and we spoke about these vanished friends. Many of his friends were mine, as well, and it was good to hear about them one by one, again. In our maturer years we evaluate our friends, and much of their substance of character we daily, unconsciously, carry about with us so that, in a measure, we live their lives along with our own. CREWS REMOVE BODIES OF SIX

Dante, Va., May 21 (A)-Grim and sweat-streaked rescue crews early today brought to the surface the last of six miners killed last night after a roof section collapsed in the Clinchfield Coal company's No. 2

Tons of coal, earth and debris buried the miners alive as they worked in the mine tunnel four miles underground. There was no explo-

Mine dispatcher J. M. Smith said the roof collapse simply "blew the coal out and over the men working near it.

Four Others Hurt Four other miners, working some 400 yards away in the corridor, were injured, but only slightly, in the accident. They were brought from the shaft about midnight after four hours' entombment.

Hundreds of persons, some of them relatives of the victims but many idly curious, lined the mine entrance as the bodies were brought up by rescue crews working in relays. The dead were listed by Smith as the Dickinson county line, in southwest Virginia. Smith said the corridor roof apexcavation. The six miners were working together.

It has stuck soberly to the business of educating youth, but its athletic teams have won passing national fame. In 1926 the grid team coached by "Bob" McMillan played the role of "giant killers" by upsetting heavily favored Harvard.

Two years ago Geneva crashed national sports pages again when football coach Alure (Slim) Ransom introduced dancing lessons to give his backs rhythm. The '46 team won all but one game.

The centennial celebration, May 27-June 1, will include a pageant crowning of a May queen, an alumni dinner, campus tours, president's reparently had been weakened by over- ception, and the opening of the synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church.

CATTLE—Receipts showed sharp seasonal contraction in the cattle department this week as field work claimed the attention of farm operators. Today's light volume was the smallest Thursday run at the Union Stockyards since the latter part of last July. It was roughly 35 per cent smaller than a week ago today and compared with the corresponding day last year. Arrivals included the equivalent of six loads of slaughter steers, with the balance made up largely of cows.

Buying power well represented as several out-of-town operators present in addition to the local interests. Slaughter steers consisted mainly of good grade offerings weighing less than 1.100 pounds, but a rather broad assortment of all other slaughter classes was on hand. Trading fairly active in the steer department and prices ruled 50c. to $1 higher than Monday's level. A few good and choice 1,050-1,175 pound steers $32.75—33. Low to high-good 750-1,050 pounds $30,25—32.50. A small lot of average-good mixed steers and heifers $29.

Supplies of slaughter heifers again consisted largely of odd head shipments that graded medium to good, $24—30.25. Common to good cows met a fairly broad degraded medium to good, $24-30.25. Common to good cows met a fairly broad demand, but canners and cutters move slowly, although late trading was a little more active than the opening. Prices mostly steady but spots 25c, and some cases more than 25c, lower. Good cows $23.50—26.50. Bulk of the common and

FIGHTING MOTH

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 21 (A)-The destructive Gypsy moth is rapidly being eliminated in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties with the aid of a converted army transport plane, capable of spraying 150 acres a minute.

J. M. Corliss, of Greenfield, Mass. in charge of all Gypsy moth eradication for the U.S. Agriculture Department, said today approximately 60,000 acres have been sprayed with DDT in the past four weeks in quarantined areas near here.

This is nearly half the goal of 150,000 acres set for completion by June 20, Corliss said. He added that three smaller planes and several power blowers working on the program.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, of the state Agriculture Department, in charge of Gyp.y moth control operations in Pennsylvania, declared at the same time that after this season only "mopping up" treatment will be required for complete elimination.

"Eradication of the pest has been 100 per cent perfect with DDT." Dr. Guyton said, adding: "In no area treated to date has a living caterpillar been found after spray-

Before the vote, the council is to hear the views of Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister. Gromyko, in brief comments thus far, has said Russia wants strong action to stop the fighting.

The council is debating two proposals, neither of which so far has enough votes to be adopted.

CREWS REMOVE BODIES OF SIX

Dante, Va., May 21 (A)-Grim and sweat-streaked rescue crews early today brought to the surface the last of six miners killed last night after a roof section collapsed in the Clinchfield Coal company's No. 2

Tons of coal, earth and debris buried the miners alive as they worked in the mine tunnel four miles underground. There was no explo-

Mine dispatcher J. M. Smith said the roof collapse simply "blew the coal out and over the men working near it."

Four Others Hurt

Four other miners, working some 400 yards away in the corridor, were injured, but only slightly, in the accident. They were brought from the shaft about midnight after four hours' entombment.

Hundreds of persons, some of them relatives of the victims but many idly curious, lined the mine entrance as the bodies were brought up by rescue crews working in relays. The dead were listed by Smith as

Euris, Artrid, Arnold Vickers, Harold Park, Oakley Creger, Troy Phillips, and a miner named Rasnick. All were from the Dante region. Dante is in Russell county, near the Dickinson county line, in southwest Virginia. Smith said the corridor roof anparently had been weakened by overexcavation. The six miners were working together.

Use golden raisins in dishes for a change. They are delicious with apple and celery in a salad, excellent in applesauce cake, delectable in a sauce for tongue or ham.

U. S. Occupation Authorities Retaliate Against Russ Border Crossing Taboos

USSR MISSIONS ARE RESTRICTED ON FRONTIER USE

Berlin, May 21 (AP) -United States occupation authorities retaliated today against Russian border crossing taboos They restricted the entry of Soviet missions to the American zone of Germany to a single frontier

American officials said last night's ruling was made by European command headquarters at Frankfurt because the Russians decreed that the American military mission stationed at Potsdam could cross into the Solet zone only at Helmstedt.

The Americans responded by notifying members of the four Russian missions in the U.S. zone that they, too, could cross only at Helmstedt. "Reciprocal Move"

The American mission previously was allowed to cross the Soviet zone border at any point.

American authorities emphasized that the action does not mean a closing of the border between the U. S. and Soviet zones They called it merely a reciprocal move affecting only official Soviet missions.

The American military government in Berlin announced that Germans in the U.S. sector will be "protected against molestation and intimidation" by persons seeking signatures for a communist-inspired national plebiscite on a unified Ger-

The petitions already had been banned in the western section of Germany. The announcement said the plebiscite is "needless and pointless." The petitions are being circulated by the communist-commated Socialist Unity Party (SED). The plebiscite begins May 23 in eastern Germany.

The Soviet military administration demanded today that the Americans revoke their action in banning Russian-sponsored publications from the U. S. Zone.

The Americans said the ban would remain until the Russians agree to stop interfering with circulation of American-sponsored newspapers and other publications in the Soviet zone
